Teaching and Learning Policy

Introduction

At Orion we have high expectations of teaching and learning, teaching on a regular basis should be of a good or better standard. We believe in the idea of lifelong learning and that learning should be a rewarding and enjoyable experience for everyone; it should be fun and purposeful.

Our teaching will motivate and engage young people, develop their independence and resilience, prepare them for work and life and raise their attainment. At Orion we believe that all young people should have the right to an educational experience; that will enable them, no matter what their starting point, to fulfil their potential and realise their ambition. It is our aim therefore that all our students experience quality learning, set in a safe and harmonious environment, centred on driving aspiration and ambition, fostering self-determination and inspiring success.

We recognise that some of our students may have learning difficulties and behavioural challenges and understand that this may impact on their everyday lives and learning experience. With this in mind, it is our aim therefore to ensure that our teaching and learning is accessible to all and is suitably personalised to meet individual needs.

Create a Climate for Learning

Members of the teaching team must create a positive, orderly and welcoming learning environment where students feel safe and valued so that learning can flourish.

Planning for Learning

Teachers are responsible for maintaining their subject knowledge and planning the best possible learning opportunities and must plan and deliver lessons in line with schemes of work that promote progress, achievement, equality, independence, resilience and stimulate a hunger for learning.

Assessment for Learning

Teachers must continually assess students' learning, seeking feedback from and giving feedback to students. This ensures that students know what they need to do to improve and allows teachers to adjust their planning for future learning. Frequent and high quality feedback leads to high levels of engagement and improved progress and achievement.

Overall teachers will be responsible for:

- Ensuring there are clear objectives and success criteria which student's understand
- Providing feedback which informs the next steps in their learning
- Giving students opportunities to reflect on their learning through target setting

- Setting clear boundaries with regard to behaviour and attendance, recognising good behaviour and being consistent in teaching approach.

Teaching & Learning Practice

In addition to the expectations outlined above, the following must also be incorporated into the learning environment:

- Close knowledge of all students and their differing needs, a relationship of trust and mutual respect and a range of teaching and learning experiences that support increasingly independent and self-motivated study.
- Active participation and leadership in learning; fostering a student's commitment to their own self-development and fulfilment. An atmosphere of challenge, discussion and enquiry is expected, based on the highest standards of evidence and argument. A world outlook should be promoted to students so that they develop wider employment skills and an awareness of and tolerance of others' views and values.

It is expected that all teaching staff:

- Explicitly teach the skills and knowledge required for success in their subject by sharing a genuine love of and interest in their subject knowledge.
- Plan and set challenging tasks based on systematic, accurate assessment of students' prior skills, knowledge and understanding.
- Ensure students' knowledge and understanding by teaching interesting lessons so that students are confident of the subject matter when completing private study. The lesson structure can be flexible and tailored to the material being taught.
- Lesson content should be suitably differentiated (taking into account SEN students and gifted and talented students) enabling all students can access and achieve within the curriculum.
- Regularly assess students' ongoing work and give frequent high-quality feedback to enable all students to reach their targets.
- Review and adjust targets in discussion with individual students in the light of their progress
- Monitor absence and follow up non-attendance.
- Offer individual support and mentoring as appropriate so that every student is provided with the chance and skills to succeed.
- Make early interventions when a student is considered unlikely to meet targets.
- Develop wider participation and links between curriculum areas and Business Development so that as well as achieving highly in the discipline of one subject area, students experience a broad and balanced curriculum and progress to employment, further learning or an Apprenticeship.

Teaching delivery must introduce and employ a variety of teaching and learning methods and resources, both inside and outside of the classroom, to enthuse, motivate, challenge and involve students, including:

The Head of School will report the effectiveness of all policies as a regular feature of the termly updates to governors. It is expected that governors will challenge Orion to ensure policies are relevant, up to date and implemented appropriately and consistently. This reporting will be informed through monitoring and evaluation on a regular basis by the Leadership Team. Views of stakeholders will also be sought through on-going consultation events, questionnaires, team meetings, training and informal discussion. The review of policies will be embedded within Orion's
